Professional Development & Learning Management Office
Central Office - City University of New York
395 Hudson Street
New York, NY 10014
646-664-3420

WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT/ SUCCESSION PLANNING FORM

Employee Name	Current Job Title	Department	Retention Potential (High, Medium, Low)	Potential Movement Readiness (Now, 1-2 yrs, 3-5 yrs)	Key Competencies/ Skills Required

Name: Title:
Campus: Date:

Instructions: Supervisors that are looking to keep talented and well-trained employees can utilize this succession-planning template to ensure that they are providing the skills and competencies employees need to move into leadership positions as they become vacant.

Supervisors should:

- Assess their key talent
- Determine their potential for growth within the organization (Retention Potential)
- Determine when the proper time to take that next step might be (Potential Movement Readiness)
- Conduct a gap-analysis to identify what their employees currently know and what they will need to know (Key Competencies/ Skills Required)

Based on the findings, supervisors should prioritize the learning and development needs for employees that have a Medium to High Retention Potential and are ready to move into key roles now or in the next 1-2 years.

Below is an example of how to fill out the succession planning form:

WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT/ SUCCESSION PLANNING FORM

Employee Name	Current Job Title	Department	Retention Potential (High, Medium, Low)	Potential Movement Readiness (Now, 1-2 yrs, 3-5 yrs)	Key Competencies/ Skills Required
Joe Smith	Human Resources Specialist	Human Resources	Medium	1-2 years	Developing an Executive Presence, Conflict Resolution, Change Management
Jane Jones	ASAP Coordinator	ASAP	High	Now	Analyzing Data in Excel, Creating and Giving Business Presentations, Teamwork Foundations

Supervisors may keep this form for their own professional departmental use or they may also submit it to the PDLM Office (University.Training@cuny.edu) for employee training guidance.