High Level TCPA Cases against Financial Institutions and Real Estate Companies

Case Name	Settlement Amount	Concise Summary & Court Ruling
Capital One & Collection Agencies – Alejandro Vivero et al. v. Capital One	$75.5M	Capital One and third-party collectors allegedly made autodialed/prerecorded calls to cell phones without consent. Court approved one of the largest TCPA settlements to address ATDS and consent violations.
HSBC – Wilkins v. HSBC Bank Nevada, N.A.	$39.98M	HSBC allegedly made unauthorized autodialed marketing and debt-collection calls. Court approved the settlement, finding widespread evidence of non-consensual calling.
JPMorgan Chase – Gehrich v. Chase Bank USA N.A.	$34M	Lawsuit alleged Chase autodialed consumers about credit card accounts without legitimate consent. The settlement covered both calls and texts, and was approved.
Bank of America & FIA Card Services	$32M	Plaintiffs accused BofA of making autodialed debt-servicing calls, including to non-customers. Settlement approved for millions of affected consumers.
Wells Fargo – Cross v. Wells Fargo Bank	$30.4M	Wells Fargo allegedly autodialed overdraft alerts and collection calls to people who didn't owe the bank. Settlement approved covering ~6.5M recipients.
Citibank – Head v. Citibank N.A.	$29.5M	Citibank allegedly robocalled non-customers about past-due accounts they had no relationship with. Court certified the class and approved the settlement.
Sallie Mae – Arthur v. Sallie Mae, Inc.	$24.15M	Alleged autodialed student-loan collection calls/texts without consent. Settlement approved as one of the earliest large TCPA education-loan cases.

Navient (formerly Sallie Mae) – Toure / Heard / Johnson v. Navient	$17.5M–$19.7M	Plaintiffs alleged Navient made autodialed student-loan calls without consent between 2011–2017. Southern District of Indiana approved a $17.5M settlement (1:15-cv-0716), though some reporting reflects $19.7M due to related claims. Calls targeted millions of borrowers during Navient's tenure as the largest loan servicer.
Ocwen Financial / Ocwen Loan Servicing – Consolidated TCPA Actions	$17.5M (rejected)	Ocwen allegedly autodialed more than 1.6M consumers without consent and agreed to a $17.5M non-reversionary settlement covering claims 2011–2017. Court rejected the settlement as inadequate despite being above typical TCPA per-capita value, finding class counsel may have undervalued the claims.
Keller Williams Realty – DeShay v. Keller Williams	$40M	Plaintiffs alleged repeated prerecorded cold calls to consumers on the DNC Registry. Court preliminarily approved the $40M settlement covering ~2M consumers; Keller Williams denied liability.
Diamond Resorts – Zwicky v. Diamond Resorts	$35M (max exposure)	Multiple suits alleged deceptive practices and potentially unlawful outreach tied to timeshare sales and fees. Court certified the class; defendants funded a $13M settlement fund with potential exposure up to $35M.
